

Improving Sexual Assault Investigations

Free One Day Training

October 24, 2011 8:30 a.m.—4:30 p.m.

Scottsbluff, NE

Detective James Starks retired from the Kentucky State Police after 27 years of service. During his last 15 years, he specialized in child sexual abuse investigations. Detective Starks had a 95+% confession rate.

Detective Starks will cover strategies to improve child sexual abuse/sexual assault investigations, particularly Speed and Surprise.

- This training will include: interrogation of (alleged) perpetrator
- Offender topology
- Who, where and when to conduct the interview
- Interviewing the non-remorseful offender
- Compliance vs. consent
- And MORE.

Sponsored by CAPstone Child Advocacy Center

- REGISTRATION:

Registration is due by October 12th, 2011.

Please complete attached registration form.

If you have questions, please call (308) 632-7274.

- WHO SHOULD ATTEND:

Members of the Investigative Multi-disciplinary (1184) Team. This includes Law Enforcement, Health and Human Services workers, and County Attorneys.

This training focuses on conducting a successful investigation, a successful interview with the alleged perpetrator, and how to increase your confession rate and therefore the prosecution rate.

This training will help attendees learn how to best improve their investigations of all crimes.

Attendees who are not responsible for the criminal investigation itself, will learn how best to work as a team and assist with the investigation.

- LOCATION/MEALS/COST:

Lunch will be provided at no charge to those registered by October 12th.

The training is free.

The training will be held at the Harms Center, 2620 College Park, Scottsbluff, Nebraska.
